understand the nature of language development and to facilitate better communication. This paper aims to identify the most common words and abbreviations used by TikTok users, analyze their word class (noun, verb, adjective, or adverb), and examine their literal and contextual meaning. Additionally, the paper seeks to determine the extent to which these words and abbreviations deviate from the conventional English language norms. To achieve these objectives and collect data, 100 random videos featuring a variety of content were watched on TikTok from different pages. After watching the videos, 60 words and abbreviations were selected for detailed analysis. The data was analyzed qualitatively following a semantic approach. The analysis revealed that TikTok users have coined many novel terms, expressions, interjections, abbreviations, and acronyms to enhance simplicity, brevity, and time-saving. Some words were employed with contextual meanings that differ from their dictionary definitions, while other words are extended based on their connotation, these words convey a sense of community and carry an emotional resonance. Furthermore, the analysis indicated that the language on TikTok is significantly influenced by movies, songs, music, YouTube videos, trends, and hashtags hence, leading to the appearance of many interjections that are based on sound and music integration.

المستخلص

ان منصة (TikTok) تعد أحد المنصات الأكثر استخدامًا من قبل الجيل الجديد، وتتميز اللغة المستخدمة على هذه المنصة بتطورها السريع واعتمادها على كلمات عامية جديدة، واختصارات، ورموز غير مفهومة للمستخدمين خارج مجتمع (TikTok). ومن الضروري دراسة هذه العناصر

اللغوية المستحدثة لفهم طبيعة تطور اللغة على هذه المنصة وتيسير التواصل بشكل أكثر فاعلية. يهدف هذا البحث إلى تحديد الكلمات والاختصارات الأكثر شيوعاً بين مستخدمي تيك توك (TikTok) ، وتحليل فئتها النحوية سواء (اسم، فعل، صفة، أو ظرف حال)، بالإضافة إلى دراسة معانيها الحرفية والسياقية . بالإضافة الى ذلك، يسعى البحث إلى تحديد مدى مخالفة هذه الكلمات والاختصارات لقواعد اللغوية التقليدية للغة الإنجليزية. ولتحقيق هذه الأهداف وجمع البيانات، تمت مشاهدة 100 فيديو عشوائياً على المنصة. وتضمنت الفيديوهات محتويات متنوعة ومن صفحات مختلفة. وبعد مشاهدة هذه الفيديوهات، تم اختيار 60 كلمة واختصاراً للتحليل الدقيق وخضعت البيانات للتحليل النوعي وفقاً لمنهج دلالي. وكشفت النتائج أن مستخدمي منصة تيك توك قد ابتكروا العديد من المصطلحات والتعبير والاختصارات والرموز الجديدة بهدف تحقيق البساطة والإيجاز وتوفير الوقت. كما أظهرت الدراسة أن بعض الكلمات تُستخدم بمعانٍ سياقية تختلف عن تعريفاتها القاموسية، في حين يتم توسيع دلالات بعض الكلمات بناءً على مدلولاتها الضمنية، مما يضفي عليها طابعاً مجتمعيًا ويحمل أبعاداً عاطفية و أشارت النتائج إلى أن اللغة المستخدمة على تيك توك تتأثر بشكل كبير بالأفلام، والأغاني، والموسيقى، وفيديوهات يوتيوب، والاتجاهات السائدة، والوسوم (الهاشتاغات)، مما أدى إلى ظهور العديد من التعبيرات والتداخلات الصوتية التي تعتمد على دمج الصوت والموسيقى الكلمات المفتاحية: مصطلحات تيك توك العامية، مفردات الجيل (Z)، المعنى الحرفي والسياقي، الاختصارات في وسائل التواصل الاجتماعي

1. INTRODUCTION

Language is necessary for human communication to make requests, provide or request information, entertain, and do other activities. People can interact and converse with one another verbally or nonverbally through language.

The advancements in technology contributed to the evolution and development of social media platforms. With social networking emerging as one of the main means of communication, the usage of social media and the internet by young people has increased significantly in recent years. People do not speak to their professors or bosses the same way they would do to a friend or their parents. It is a vocabulary section that is seldom utilized in daily speech and might contain recently created terms and idioms in addition to newly extended or newly created words (Zhou & Fan, 2013). On the other hand, slang language can be a barrier to communication since it is not standardized and can vary depending on the community setting. It can also establish a communication gap between younger and older generations (Venter, 2017). According to Saputra and Marlina's (2019) research, slang terms coined and utilized by online users have gained popularity, and social media users also employ these words. One social media platform that lets individuals utilize language to express themselves is TikTok. Versions of the current language are created in addition to new ones when TikTok is utilized. The language variation on the social network TikTok is becoming more and more varied, which leads to this linguistic diversity. These variables are social and situational in nature. English language has been changed significantly as a result of the internet's increasing influence and expanding popularity (Slim & Hafedh, 2019:56-71).

This research will focus on the most common words and abbreviations often used on TikTok platform. First, the study will determine the term's kind (word, acronym, or abbreviation). The term's origin will then be determined, along with whether or not it is new. Lastly, the study will examine the denotative and connotative meanings in the context of TikTok or according to dictionaries and the situational context.

2. LITERATURE REVIEW

The connection between language development and digital communication has emerged as a major area of study in sociolinguistics. Due to their dynamic and engaging character, social media platforms have become important drivers of linguistic change and diversity (Tagg, 2018; Danet, 2001). Of these, TikTok has become well-known as a distinct area that encompasses a range of linguistic idioms, helping to usher in the creation of what academics refer to as "New English."

In scholarly debates, social media's impact on linguistic variance is widely accepted (Crystal, 2011). With its vast user base and short-form video material, TikTok stands out as a language environment where new linguistic forms emerge and conventional norms are questioned. TikTok's framework, with its intrinsic creative elements, encourages language experimentation and creates a unique space for language variety to be expressed (Squires, 2019).

Smith's (2020) research highlights TikTok's worldwide influence on language dynamics. Users from various linguistic origins come together on the platform to produce, share, and interact with content, serving as a linguistic melting pot. The study of New English gains nuance from this international linguistic environment, which highlights the platform's function in promoting intercultural dialogue and linguistic convergence.

In the context of TikTok, defining New English entails recognizing its unique traits. Johnson's (2018) research emphasizes the significance of humor, acronyms, and meme-driven language as essential elements of New English in digital media. TikTok users use a variety of interactive methods, comedy, and irony to engage their audience, making the pragmatic features of their language use very fascinating (Danforth et al., 2020).

Examining the language environment on TikTok poses distinct difficulties because of the transient nature of the material and moral issues around data gathering. Gao & Yuan (2021) and Miller (2019) mentioned that many approaches have been used in previous studies, from user surveys and interviews to content analysis of TikTok videos. Yuniar et al (2023) in their paper entitled "An analysis of English slang words discussed by slang content creators on TikTok" investigated the types and the meaning of slang words used by content creators on TikTok. The study also explores the contribution of English slang words to language learning.

Ferstephanie, J., & Pratiwi, T. L. (2022) in their study entitled “ The effect of TikTok to develop students’ speaking skill: A classroom action research” examined using TikTok as a tool to improve students' speaking skills through Classroom Action Research (CAR) involving twenty- five students. The study concluded that TikTok engaged students and allowed them to express creativity during the process of learning.

Moreover, Mackey, A. E. (2023) in her thesis “ Evaluating the evolution of the English language as seen in TikTok slang” examines the contribution of slang on TikTok to the evolution of the English language, the study focused on whether slang terms are transitioning into mainstream usage. Furthermore, to acquire a deeper understanding of the patterns and trends in TikTok language, corpus linguistic techniques such as concordance, frequency analysis, collocation analysis, keyword analysis, and semantic & discourse analysis have been used (Liu et al., 2022).

Although previous studies offer significant perspectives on the language environment of TikTok, many deficiencies continue to exist. Certain pragmatic facets of New English on TikTok have received little attention, and a more thorough investigation of the worldwide variety of TikTok language is required. So the research questions are as follows:

1. What are the most recent words and abbreviations on TikTok?
2. Do these words and abbreviations deviate from the linguistic properties of the English language?
3. What is the contextual meaning of these words and abbreviations?

By filling these gaps, this study aims to address important research topics, such as analyzing the wider socio-cultural consequences of the platform and characterizing pragmatic elements in New English on TikTok.

3. METHODOLOGY

This study will tackle the new English expressions and abbreviations that are commonly used on TikTok. It will scrutinize thirty expressions and thirty abbreviations qualitatively following a semantic approach. A descriptive qualitative method was adapted to identify and analyze the meaning of the slang words. The steps of the analysis will be as follows:

1. The study will first decide on the type of term (word, abbreviation, acronym).
2. It will determine the origin of the term whether it is novel or not.
3. The study will analyze the denotative and connotative meanings based on the dictionary or their meanings in the context of TikTok.

4. DATA COLLECTION

Having watched 100 English videos with different contents on TikTok, the researchers have chosen the ones with novel terms and abbreviations a total of 60 words and abbreviations were chosen to be analyzed. The researchers saved the videos from which the data were selected as a documentation technique. The chosen samples will be discussed in the data analysis.

There are many new terms on social media however, this study is limited to the novel words and abbreviations employed by users on TikTok. It is also noteworthy that neither personal content nor political issues have been selected.

5. DATA ANALYSIS

A descriptive, qualitative method was employed to identify and analyze the meanings of the slang words on the TikTok platform. As shown in Table 1 below, the most common slang words were selected, then their part of speech was identified as assumed (nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, and interjections) to be analyzed following this pattern:

1. Literal meaning: the denotative meaning of these words has been analyzed based on dictionaries. Oxford and Cambridge dictionaries were adopted to elicit the literal meaning of the words. The origin of some of the words was traced to determine whether the words are novel or undergo a semantic shift as expanding and altering the meaning.
2. Contextual meaning: the connotative meaning was analyzed based on the usage in context on the platform and from slang dictionaries such as Urban Dictionary and Merriam-Webster. Finally, for each word and each abbreviation, a real sample sentence was chosen from the TikTok platform to be analyzed.

1. Slay

- a. The Literal meaning: According to the Oxford dictionary the word 'slay' denotes either killing something or somebody in a fight or having a strong humoristic effect on somebody.
- b. The contextual meaning: the contextual meaning is different; it refers to something pleasant or enthusiastic. An example of that on TikTok is:
 - Lord Huron's new song slays (a boy is dancing while listening to music)
 - Selanter's are slaying (people are listening to Selena Gomez's song)

2. Finna

- a. The literal meaning: a short version of 'fixing to'
- b. The contextual meaning: Based on Merriam Webster, 'finna' is a slang verb that means 'going to' such as a student is happy because he has no school on Monday and it is written
 - Monday: No school
Finna sleep all day

3. Karen

- a. The literal meaning: this word originally is a name of females.
- b. The contextual meaning: It is used to refer to a middle-aged woman who thinks that she is better than others. An example from TikTok: # Teachers are Karens (a - student wants to go out of the class to the toilet and the teacher does not accept saying why didn't you go during the break?)

4. Low key
 - a. The literal meaning: In the Oxford dictionary, low-key is an adjective that refers to doing something without attracting attention.
 - b. The contextual meaning: Low key is used on TikTok without a hyphen when someone likes to do something secretly, such as: I low key miss him (a girl says: I'm gonna show this video to my brother, but she does not find him in the room).
 5. Tea
 - a. The literal meaning: Dried tea leaves or a type of drink.
 - b. The contextual meaning: The word 'tea' refers to gossip and telling news. An example on TikTok is # when you have been waiting to spill the tea to your bestie all day. (a girl telling her friend the news and her friend seems shocked).

6.FINDINGS

After analyzing the novel expressions and abbreviations used by TikTok users, the study reveals that these words undergo a significant semantic shift from their dictionary meaning. These semantic shifts include expanding, narrowing, metaphor, and hyperbole. Certain terms acquire new meanings that contrast sharply with their denotative meaning. However, there are some words whose pragmatic meanings are derived from their semantic meanings by extending one aspect of the linguistic term. For instance, the brand name ‘Gucci’ is highly famous, expensive, and of good quality. Hence, the positive connotation of the brand is used as an adjective to describe a high-quality experience or something appealing. Another example is ‘ghosting somebody’, which entails ‘ceasing communication’, derived from a ghost's basic characteristic of being invisible and unseen. The findings show that the TikTok platform is a fertile ground to observe the effect of digital platforms and the new generation’s preference on the evolution of meaning.

7. CONCLUSION

The language on TikTok is dynamic, developing rapidly and continuously due to various factors such as the age of users, new trends, movies, songs, celebrities, and hashtags. The lexicons used on TikTok foster a sense of community, as many expressions are incomprehensible to those outside the TikTok community.

The findings suggest that slang on TikTok is evolving rapidly due to the nature of the platform and the users. An extensive semantic shift was observed. Words and abbreviations acquire new contextual meaning, which, through usage has replaced the literal meaning. Furthermore, Interjections have evolved on TikTok due to many factors such as the platform’s unique culture, rapid development, and the impact of trends. Content creators aim to produce content that is straightforward and impactful; hence, these interjections are formed through creative wordplay, audio clips, and lip-syncing. Additionally, interjections on TikTok often possess an ironic and humorous nature. Similar to interjections, abbreviations, and acronyms are extensively used on TikTok and they are crafted through trends. The platform's nature facilitates the creation and distribution of abbreviations and acronyms. Trending hashtags help in spreading new content because of TikTok’s algorithm. The videos on TikTok are brief and fast-paced, so users tend to shorten words and coin new abbreviated forms.

In Summary, the language used by users of TikTok is characterized by simplicity, brevity, and universality. The content reflects diverse cultures due to the massive number of users. Another notable feature is the integration of music and wordplay, and most users quote from songs, movies, and videos.
